A second edition of the GAZETTE will be issued in the ... about nine o'clock

Good morning President Harrison

Job Cooper had as effective support from El Paso county at the polls as in the newspaper ...

Colorado will give from 8000 to 10,000 republican majority. If New York gave a proportionate majority Harrison would have 120,000.

The count is so late in this city that it is impossible to give any details of the vote in this county at this writing. But it is safe to estimate a republican majority in this county of at least one thousand—we shall still hold our own—as the banner county in Colorado.

The returns indicate that Hon John Campbell has carried this county by not less than five hundred majority. His friends were thoroughly organized and made a splendid fight and will feel abundantly rewarded in the result. Indications are that this majority will be increased when full returns are received from the outside counties

The result at this writing indicates the election of Harrison beyond all reasonable doubt. The full returns of New York state are not given, but the increase above Harlem river is so steady that only one result can be expected. All the New York papers have given up the contest except the Times. New York is the democratic state as in 1884, but the returns do not admit of the doubt there was in that year.

NEW YORK FOR HARRISON

New York has gone republican by 12,000. Harrison is elected. A tremendous crowd was cheering in front of the Fifth Avenue Hotel parlors. Senator Quay, of Pennsylvania, was watching the situation with other members of the national committee. Fifty thousand people had gathered in Madison Square and Fifth Avenue.

Raffle tickets for the painting by Orfer, "The Merry Shoemaker" and the book, "Procession of Flowers," can be bought at the Consolidated book store. The drawing for these articles was to have taken place on Monday night but owing to the requisite number of tickets not having been sold it has been deferred.

The new uniforms of Com any A have arrived and are very handsome. They are a dress uniform and the old ones will be retained as a fatigue uniform. The coats are a dark navy blue and the pants are a light sky blue. The facings are of yellow and the buttons are gilt with the word "Colorado" across them. Each man wears a dark blue belt trimmed with yellow and with a large gilt coat of arms. The boys will present a handsome appearance when they parade on Thanksgiving day.

The Wool Markets.

Coates Bros. give the following quotations for wool. Markets continue firm. Holders are only selling when they can get full values, and many are indisposed to sell at present. Some manufacturers are buying more freely while others are waiting. All interested in wool are looking to the result of the election as to which policy will be supported by the country. But when this is decided, it will remain for congress to carry out the will of the people, and it will probably be many months before any action will be had to change existing laws. The situation must therefore continue for some time to be the present tariff, but with the election settled, it is to be hoped a confidence may be restored in the values of wool and woolens, and that trade may improve. Best washed fleeces are firm and in small supply. Worsted woolens are closely sold up. Territory wools sell well when light and bright, but short heavy, dark wools, are always difficult to move except at comparatively low figures. The quotations for Colorado and New Mexico are as follows.

A second edition of the Gazette will be issued in the morning about nine o'clock.

Good morning, President Harrison.

Job Cooper had an effective support from El Paso county at the polls with the nominating convention.

Colorado will give from nine to fifteen republican majority. If New York gave a proportionate majority Harrison would have 120 000.

The count is so late in this city that it is impossible to give any details of the vote in this county at this writing. But it is safe to estimate a republican majority in this county of at least one thousand. We shall still hold our own as the banner county in Colorado.

The returns indicate that Hon. John Campbell has carried this county by not less than five hundred majority. His friends were thoroughly organized and made a splendid fight, and will feel abundantly rewarded in the result. Indications are that this majority will be increased when full returns are received from the outside counties.

The result at this writing indicates the election of Harrison beyond all reasonable doubt. The full returns of New York state are not given but the increase above Harlem river is so steady that only one result can be expected. All the New York papers have given up the contest except the Times. New York is the decisive state as in 1884, but the returns do not admit of the doubt there was in that year.

HAWK SHOOTING

A Correspondent Who Differs With Us as to the Killing of the Game.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 29, 1888.

To the Editor of the Gazette:

In your issue of the 27th inst. you say, under the head of "Hawk Shooting," that you are opposed to the killing of the hawk, and refer to the game. To me hawk shooting is a very pastime, and I always ignore the value of the bird of prey. Hawks are very common in the south. They live on rats, mice and snakes, and secure the latter in numbers. Of all species the dark hawk is the most persistent, all in all, of the hunter. It is a beautiful bird and takes no quarter for a wounded chicken. Down in Louisiana some of the New Yorkers and Philadelphians have got me on a list of 5,000 acres of water I have control privileges on.

The morning of my arrival I was awakened by the report of a gun, and I found to the extreme east of our cottage Texas, at the [illegible] Lake. There they were, a splendid body of water, and when [illegible] with ducks, wild swans, geese, brant, and all sorts of water fowl, the latter, however, won't be attracted to either. Many species of hawks are migratory. They collect in vast flocks, now after the fall of the leaf, in many states and fly with great rapidity northward and southward. At such periods it is not to be regarded little event to see the hawk in motion. In the early spring they
